Semester I & II

B.A./M.A. Five Year Integrated Course In Pali

Preamble: the traditional way of learning Pali starts at an early age and gradually develops into ethically strong basis of life. Now at the university though we cannot give the monastic kind of training to the students, the need of the time is -a very strong foundation of sound mind and body, facing the stress and challenges of the life. There is necessity of Pali learning for a long time from early age which few schools in Maharashtra are giving, but not near Mumbai. Mumbai University has only one college which satisfies the need of Pali learning at the undergraduate and graduate level those too only three papers in Pali.

The interest in the study of Pali language and literature is on the rise. There is an increasing demand for the courses in Pali from the undergraduate level for intensive and explicit Pali study at the University Department. Taking into consideration the need, Department of Pali has proposed Five Year Integrated MA in Pali, where one can dedicate his/her entire attention to the learning of the Pali language and literature, and thus can venture into concentrated research in Pali which is the need of the day. Secondly Pali being the international language, the increasing demand of the scholars of Pali in and outside India into different areas of Buddhist studies like art and architecture, archaeology, numismatics and epigraphy, travel and tourism is also one of the reasons for such a course in Pali. The library, the guidance available at the university level is also supportive to the course.

UNIVERSITY OF MUMBAI

DEPARTMENT OF PALI

CHOICE-BASED CREDIT SYSTEM SYLLABUS FOR SEM-III (PALI)

TO BE IMPLEMENTED FROM 2017-18

ELECTIVE COURSES

PREAMBLE: Department of Pali is offering TWO POOLS of 5 Courses each as Elective Courses of 6 credits; for the students to choose from. They are PALI LITERATURE-I and PALI LITERATURE-II. The courses in each POOL is chosen in such way that they are based on the Core Courses taken and will support the Project based courses which are to be undertaken by the student in the next semester.

2500 years of Pali literature is categorized in 5 Papers according to the development of Pali Literature through ages. Right from the Buddhavacana- Canonical Literature (6th BCE to 5th CE), Atthakatha and Tika Literature (5th CE to 10th CE) to Dipani and Niti Literature (11th to 19th CE) are taken into the syllabus thus giving wide range of choice to the student to get acquainted with the Pali language and literature of different era.

SEMESTER-III HAS FIVE PAPERS [ALL ELECTIVES] OF 100 MARKS EACH. [60+40] ALL ARE COMPULSORY PAPERS CHOSEN FROM ONE POOL OF PALI LITERATURE.

THE STUDENTS ARE EXPECTED TO CHOOSE FROM THE 2 POOLS; PALI LITERATURE-I AND PALI LITERATURE-II ANY ONE POOL OF FIVE ELECTIVES.

PALI LITERATURE-I AND PALI LITERATURE-II

PREAMBLE: The combination of courses gives exposure to various dimensions of Pali literature and essence of Pali language. Texts belonging to different eras and different literary aspects enable students to get complete picture of the Pali. The Teachings of the Buddha in poetic form from the neighboring countries like Myanmar and Srilanka of the late 16th -18th century shows the emphasis of ethics and morality in the society through the Niti and Dipanam literature. The Atthakatha literature specially the Dhammapada and Jataka atthakatha is the store house of the social, political, economic and religious conditions prevalent at the time. These texts in prose are the source of historical India and are said to be the narratives of the Pali literature. The texts of Pali like Milindapanha, Visuddhimagga, Nettipakarana and Petakopadesa has their own place in the history of Pali language and literature. They are must reads and reflects that aspects of Pali language which is even taken as the Canons by Myanmar. The importance of the canonical texts like the Suttapitaka with its five Nikayas, the Vinaya Pitaka with its rules and regulations and the higher teachings of the Buddha-the Abhidhamma through some exegetical texts is well-known and is an essential part of Pali learning. Thus all texts are selected carefully to give the students the overall exposure of Pali language so as to make them ready for the project to be undertaken in the next semester.
